ABOUT US

The idea for ESSA Performance Priorities began at a conference with school leaders. It's not hard to imagine attending a conference, debating the sessions to attend, the excitement after learning from excellent presenters, and leaving the conference feeling rejuvenated but overwhelmed. Time, funding, planning, and analysis are only a few of the obstacles school leaders stated prevented the implementation of great ideas and meaningful practices. Two words began our company. "What next?" This experience defined who we are as a company. Like you, we are administrators, directors, and educators. We have experienced the same challenges, dilemmas, and demands placed on schools today. We heard your needs and our goal is to serve you.
